ALL THIS, AND BREAKFAST TOO!

If you chance to drop by your neighborhood supermarket any time soon, be sure to stroll down the aisle where they sell the Packaged Dry Cereal. There, beside the boxes of Fudgie-Wudgies and Chocolate Frosted Sugar Bombs, you're sure to find that American classic, good old Kellogg's Corn Flakes.

Do yourself a favor. Pick up a box and check out the special limited time offer advertised on the back.

And why are we talking about a breakfast cereal in the pages of a Disney Comic, you ask? Well, unless you've picked up a particularly old box of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, you should find an offer thereupon for a free (well, okay, it's free for two box tops) copy of a new digest-sized magazine that calls itself DISNEY ADVENTURES.

Starting to see the subtle connection here? Beginning this October -- and for every month thereafter -- you'll be able to find DISNEY ADVENTURES waiting for you at the checkout stand of that same supermarket.

Crammed full of fascinating articles, celebrity interviews, fabulous photo features, mind bending puzzles and games, and all-new comics adventures of DuckTales, Chip 'N' Dale Rescue Rangers, Tale Spin, and all your other favorite Disney characters, DISNEY ADVENTURES is a magazine unlike any you've seen before.

As we mentioned, the first newsstand copy of DISNEY ADVENTURES will be available everywhere in October, but this special sneak preview issue will only be available through this special limited time offer from Disney and Kellogg's. We promise it's something you won't want to miss.

DISNEY ADVENTURES -- it's something to read while you eat your breakfast -- and a whole lot more!

Hi —

Enjoy your comics. Others have written requesting Mickey Mouse serials. I second the motion. My favorites are "The Castaways of Whale Bay" and "The Alaskan Adventure." Thanks much for the space.

Dear Spenser —

As you know by now, we're doing Mickey Mouse serials, starting with some of my favorites. We'll get to yours in the months to come. Oddly enough, I've slated "The Castaways of Whale Bay" for Walt Disney's Comics and Stories #558, 559, 560, on sale in February, March and April of 1991.

* * *

Dear Editor —

What does it mean when they say the story is "done by the Gutenburghus group?" What is this group?

Also, can you get me a couple of autographs from Disney artists and story writers, especially Carl Barks?

Nicholas Krzanowski
Southhampton, MA

Dear Nicholas -

The "Gutenburghus group" is a publishing house in Denmark. They publish lots of comic art, employing artists throughout the world. i

Sorry, but the only way to get autographs from artists and writers is to meet them in person or to visit them at any of the great comic-book conventions held throughout the summer in the major cities in this country, or on weekends in some of the smaller cities and towns year-round. Mr. Barks doesn't visit comic-book conventions, so the chances of getting his autograph are not too good.

There are also a number of very large and important comic-book conventions held in Europe every year and they are usually attended by many comic professionals.

Dear Editor -

I am eleven years old and have been collecting Disney comics for two years. I am Uncle Scrooge's #1 fan and I love the Duck comics.

I wasn't sure if you'd quit printing classic stories by Barks, Van Horn and Rosa, or start doing stories with modern clothes and a new look. Wow! Was I wrong! Thanks for reprinting the classics. The new art is great. You've kept the original look with a new feel.

Keep up the goooood work!

J.T. Landry
Prairieville, LA

Dear J.T. -

Thanks! What's a classic comic book without classic art and stories by classic artists and writers like Barks, Van Horn and Rosa, not to mention Murry, Moores and Gottfredson?

Dear Editors -
Comicdom is mighty lucky
Now that you're reprinting
Bucky.
All the clever miniscule
Details of Junkville only fuel
My wish for more of them. And each Balloon of Bucky's rhyming
speech Delights. This snappy insect creature
Inspired those who drew his feature
To their best art. So: more and more!
In fact, a general-interest book store
Would be a good place to sell
zillions of copies
Of hardbound "children's book"
stories of Bucky's
--complete with an intro appreciation
In rhyme, by some fan -- like

Yours, in elation,
Albert Goldbarth

As I sit around the old hearth

I enjoy the way he graces
This page with his fun-filled

He knows how to brighten up

But I wonder, would he like to Take a train or plane or bike to Someplace else that suits a bug named Bucky?
'cause finding words that
rhyme with 'Kansas'
Is limited to 'dance' and
